NATURE VALLEY GRAND PRIX PRO/AM WOMEN

Ali Dwyer and Laurel Green did a fine job representing Team Mack at Minnesota's premier event in Mid June. This NRC event drew top women racers from across America. The opening stage in Winona saw Ali nail a solid 11th and Laurel followed with a fine 24th place. Stage 2 Ali and Laurel placed in the field. Stage 3 in Stillwater again saw Ali Dwyer place well in 10th place. CONGRATULATIONS!!!

Multiple Sclerosis Charity Ride

Team Mack member Brad Tutt, plans to test his strength and character by riding 150 miles from Columbia Mo, to Troy Mo. Sept 14 and 15. Brad is raising money for people with multiple sclerosis. Brad will be joining nearly 1,800 cyclists in the 18th annual ride to raise money for M.S. He needs to raise a minimum of $200 to support research and programs in order to ride and represent Team Mack Racing. Please e-mail Gary for Donation commit-

ELGIN UCI U23 Race

MACK ATTACK!!

Many regional teams toed the line with larger international squads in the main event, the 116km (72mile) U23 UCI race. Local teams like Team Mack, Indiana University, and Team Turin featured riders that wouldn't normally get an opportunity to race in a UCI ranked event, with teams like the US National Team or Saturn, if it weren't for this race. Many of these local teams made their presence felt.

Early breaks in the race were attempted by a few riders, especially coming off the steep climb on the back side. A rider from C-bike.com pushed a 500 meter gap, but the fast-moving pack, turning 13 minute laps, quashed the solo venture.

Many of the local teams mixed it up by putting riders up the road and a few group breaks formed. Team Mack was especially aggressive with their rider Adam Bergman coming off a good win the day before in the Wendy's Cycling Classic race. He was joined by nine other riders, including members of the US National Team, Team VW/Trek, Wheelworks/Mengoni, Team Quebec, and C-bike.com.

Viktor Repinski of Saturn made his move on the flat, accelerating away from the pack and hammering down the long straights winning solo. Team Macks Adam Bergman arrived in 4th place, Frank Dierking in 10th, Ryan Nenninger 24th and Paul Ellis 44th.

Adam also scored 2nd in the KOM competition and the team finished 4th of 20 teams. Tim Shotts and Andrew Broas did not finish but contributed to the teams success.
